MISTRIAL RESULTS IN LANCASTER CASE

WILSON DECLINES TO INTERVENE IN CONTROVERSY ON FUTURE PAY RATE

Issue Put to Railway Labor Board by the Chief Executive

JEWELL EXPECTED TO APPEAR ON THURSDAY

Cuyler Telegraphs His Approval of the Stand of President

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—The railway wage issue today is squarely up to the United States Railway Wage board. Decision as to whether the national working agreements shall live or whether they shall be abrogated and railroads permitted to reduce wages paid their employees rests entirely with the board.

Appeals of the labor unions to President Wilson to intervene in the dispute brought no results. The President, in a telegram to union leaders and to Thomas DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the American Association of Railway Executives, declined to take any action, other than to submit the plea of the employees and the claims of the railroads to the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Railway Wage Labor board.

Mr. Cuyler promptly telegraphed to President Wilson his approval of the President's action. Labor officials have not, as yet, made public any statement or comment on the President's action.

Action Delayed
Action by the board has been delayed by the failure of the employees' representatives to appear and present their side of the case. Two postponements have been granted. B. M. Jewell, head of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor, who is spokesman for the employees.

KIWANIS CLUB IS THANKED BY BOARD

APPRECIATION EXPRESSED FOR AID GIVEN TO THE HOSPITAL
The Kiwanis club was extended the appreciation of the Board of Trustees of the Benevolent Hospital in a letter received today by E. F. Baird, secretary of the club. The letter follows: "451 Sherman St., Albany, Feb. 1, 1921
Mr. E. F. Baird, Secretary of Kiwanis Club:—
The Kiwanis Club did a fine and generous act when it so cheerfully and willingly repeated the ministrals, with nearly an entire change of program, for the benefit of the Benevolent Society Hospital.
It must have meant much hard work, sacrifice, and perseverance to set such an example of service.
The Board of Trustees fully appreciates the contribution to the Hospital and assures the Kiwanis that the results of their labors will bring good care and health to many a needy patient.
Gratefully Yours,
Mrs. E. C. Payne,
President Board of Trustees."

City to Advertise Property For Sale

City Clerk Henry Hartung announced today the City of Albany will advertise a large amount of property tomorrow for sale at an early date. The improvement assessments for sewerage, paving and other improvements have become delinquent, he stated, and the city was provided no alternative course.

BARN TWISTED BY HIGH WIND, SAW OFF DOOR

SOMERVILLE, Ala., Feb. 7.—(Special to The Daily)—The high wind visited this section Saturday causing the loss of valuable timber, blew out the windows at the Methodist church and twisted a barn, belonging to Fletcher Turney, so badly that the owners were forced to saw off the doors in order to get inside. Telephone communication was interrupted for a time.

MORGAN COUNTY COTTON BODY TO MEET; DISCUSSES COTTON ACREAGE

Session is Called by Officials of the State Organization

LETTER MADE PUBLIC BY JUDGE SKEGGS
County Urged to do Part in Work Undertaken in Alabama

February 9th has been set as the day for the Morgan county mass meeting of the American Cotton association for the purpose of presenting reasons for the reduction of cotton acreage, and the naming of a full committee for carrying out such plans as may be adopted. The place of the meeting will be announced at a later date. The following letter was received by Judge William E. Skeggs, who has been appointed leader of the drive for less cotton acreage, and is self explanatory:

Dear Mr. Chairman and Vice-Chairman: When you hold your County mass meeting, Wednesday, February 9th, to start off the campaign for reduction of acreage, please be careful in selecting your committee for the several beats and get men appointed who will take hold of the work and push it through and be ready to report results on Saturday, February 12th.

Appoint committees large enough to cover the beat and see every man in them during this three days. Of course, if it requires more time, allow it as we are anxious it should be thorough.

Have your convention pass resolutions endorsing the plan proposed by the state association.

Have a resolution passed asking your local paper to publish the list of those who sign the contract. Send copies of all resolutions adopted to this office.

After reports have been turned in by the beat workers, have a list made of signers and furnish your local paper; send copy of this list and original signatures to this office.

Reports are coming in from all sections of the cotton growing territory that the campaign for reduction is speeding along in great shape and we now feel confident that if each one of us will do our part right now, we will have the satisfaction of reaping a rich reward next Fall when cotton now on hand and the small crop raised this year will bring a price that will lift us out of the slough of despond we are now floundering in.

It is up to you to see that your County does her part, and we know we can depend upon you. This is the only solution of our difficulties.

Yours truly,
AMERICAN COTTON ASSO.,
Alabama Division,
W. R. GREENE,
Secretary.

MANY CASES SET

RAIL WORKERS TO CONTINUE EFFORT FOR 'AGREEMENT' AVERS SAM ROPER

Are Unwilling to Give Up National Pact, Prominent Leader Says

LOCAL MAN RETURNS TO CHICAGO MEET SOON
Records of Conference Will be Distributed to Public at Early Date

Sam E. Roper, President of the System Federation of all crafts on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad will return to Chicago during this week, to complete his work, in conjunction with the other labor leaders, now appearing before the National Wage Board. Mr. Roper, whose home is in Austinville, stated that efforts being made "to induce the public to believe that Rail workers were attempting three things, viz, the 'closed shop', the One Big Union, and the forcible establishment of the Plumb Plan, would come to nothing. He said that the informed general public knew that the Railroad employees convention in Kansas City eight months ago, voted almost unanimously against the closed shop proposition, and that it was also well known that not only were they opposed to the O. B. U. but had actually withdrawn fellowship from all who belonged to it.

He said that the two points being covered, it was idle to talk of rail employees trying to "force" the Plumb Plan or any other "democracy in industry" plan on the American people. "We feel like the man in the fable, who had several sons. As long as they stood together their interests were safe, but the moment they became separated they could easily be thrust aside. We believe that the effort to 'scrap' the National agreements, means that the enemies of organized labor wish to separate us, and then kill our organizations off one by one. But what ever the objects of the opponents of the National Agreement, we feel that our only safe course is to contend for its retention."

Mr. Roper brought with him from Chicago, recently printed records of the proceedings of the wage board's deliberations, which later will be given to the general public, as fast as they can be printed and distributed.

MOVIE REEL WILL TELL THE STORY OF SUFFERING ABROAD

A moving picture reel, shown through cooperation of the Morgan County committee and the management of the Princess, will tell the story of suffering among the children of Europe at that playhouse Tuesday night.

Morgan County is falling behind in her quota for this great work, it was stated today and during this week workers will redouble their efforts to obtain funds to aid the kiddies in the famine stricken area.

Reports received by the European Council declare if aid is not forthcoming immediately from America, children by the thousands will not be able to last through the winter. Each ten dollars given here will keep a child alive for next harvest time.

"Morgan County cannot, she must not fail in this great humanitarian endeavor," Chairman Payne stated today. "Those children are starving to death. We who have been blessed with a bountiful harvest must do our share to relieve their suffering. It is a terrible thing to think of children dying by the hundreds and thousands simply for the lack of food but that is what is actually occurring. Who will be the next to give $10 to save the life of a child?"

U.S. On Sound Basis; Bottom Here on Prices

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The nation today is upon a sounder basis, financially and economically than it has been for many years and will enter upon an era of healthy progress when prices of commodities are further stabilized, Comptroller of the Currency Williams said today in his annual report to Congress.

Comptroller Williams told Congress there is urgent need, during the readjustment period to stamp out profiteers in money and commodities. Among the main recommendations for new legislation, made by Williams, is one to enable solvent banks to meet runs or other emergencies by the use of Federal reserve banks of good securities, which are not available now for such purposes.

He also urges Congress to enact a bank guarantee law by which all deposit balances of $5,000 and less would be guaranteed. The effect of such a law, he said, would be to bring hundreds of millions of dollars out of hiding and into productive use. Despite business strain last year, Williams said, the banks have shown the best record in "immunity from failure" in forty years.

"The precipitant decline witnessed in so many lines," he said, "encourages the belief we are near the bottom, the fall in some instances having been already excessive and abnormal and really not justified by actual conditions."

The Comptroller's figures show the combined resources of all banks in the United States, including national, state and Federal reserve, aggregate $59,153,104,000. National banks have $20,520,177 deposit accounts, an increase of $2,279,877 over the preceding year.

AMERICA ASKED TO CANCEL WAR DEBTS BY GREAT BRITAIN

(International News Service)
LONDON, Feb. 7.—Formal representations were made to the United States government by Basil P. Blackett, comptroller of finance in the British treasury, for cancellation of the allied war debts, including the huge sum owed by allied nations to the United States; but the United States government refused, it was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon.

Mr. Blackett's proposals were contained in a letter, which, according to the informant, were forwarded to Washington "some months ago". In view of the statement of the Secretary of the American Treasury Department at Washington that the foreign debt question will be left over to the Harding administration, it was improbable that Lord Chalmers, financial expert of the British government, who will discuss the allied debt question with the American government, will accompany Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador when he sails for the United States next week.

WOMAN EXPECTS SPIRIT MESSAGE FROM SCIENTIST

By The Detroit Times
(Copyright 1921 by The I. N. S.)
DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 7.—"I expect Thomas Lynn Bradford's spirit to return to earth and if it does I feel that it will communicate with me first of all," Mrs. Ruth Doran made this statement today to a Times reporter. She is the woman with whom Bradford, writer and lecturer, who was found dead in a gas filled room late Saturday night, had discussed spiritualism and to whom he said, "I can prove in a very simple manner that the dead can communicate with the living."

A sheet of paper was found in a typewriter in his room on which he had written: "... and it is through scientific fact that I propose to demonstrate clearly the phenomena of spirits and prove that all the phenomena is outside the domain of the supernatural," together with other papers showing Bradford had advertised in Detroit papers for someone interested in spiritualistic science, pointed to the theory he had made a pact with someone to demonstrate by giving himself and sending a message back from the spirit world, that spirits can communicate with the living.

Mrs. Doran is the woman Bradford found but she denied there was any pact whereby he was to take his life in the cause of "spiritualistic science." She said in reply to a question that she had received no spirit message yet.

"Separate Peace" Report is Denied

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Official denial was made by the Department of State today of published reports that there have been conversations or negotiations between the American commissioner in Berlin and the German government on the subject of a separate peace.

"The commissioner in Berlin," it was said at the department, "never has conducted any negotiations either directly or indirectly or held conversations with any one on the subject of a separate peace with Germany. He is not authorized to do so, nor would he be permitted to do so."

Aid Proposed for Farm Land Banks

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The Secretary of the Treasury would be authorized during the fiscal year 1922 to purchase at par and accrued interest with any funds in the treasury, not otherwise appropriated, from any Federal land bank farm loan bonds issued by the latter under an amendment to the agricultural bill, introduced in the Senate today by Senators Glass and Swanson, Democrats, of Virginia.

JURORS UNABLE REACH VERDICT

(International News Service)
HAMILTON, Feb. 7.—After the jury had failed in a second attempt to agree, a mistrial was ordered in the case of Sergeant Robert L. Lancaster, Alabama National Guardsman, indicted in connection with the lynching of William Baird, union miner, at 10:02 o'clock this morning.

On the final ballot the jury stood five for life imprisonment, one for a lesser penitentiary term, five for acquittal and one was undecided. The jurors assembled at the courthouse shortly before nine o'clock. Judge Sowell sent for Lancaster when the jury was seated.

The prisoner smiled and said "Good morning, Judge" as he passed the judge's bench. The judge courteous shaking of heads in unison was the ten minutes.

"Gentlemen, have you reached a verdict?" Judge Sowell asked when the jury reappeared.

"No, Your Honor, we cannot agree" was the reply.

"I am sorry you have disagreed," Judge Sowell said, "because you have sat through a fair and impartial trial and it appears to me that twelve intelligent men as you are could reach a verdict. Go back to your room, study this case again and try to agree. I will give you one hour."

The twelve farmers again were locked up. For a long time previously it had been understood the vote had stood 6 to 6. Judge Sowell again sent for the jury at 10 o'clock. A shaking of heads in unison was the answer when the judge asked if the jury had reached an agreement the second time.

The judge then asked if there was any probability of an agreement. The jurors again shook their heads. This time the decision was accepted.

WIT OF JUDGE DOES MUCH TO ENLIVEN LANCASTER'S TRIAL

Court's Rule Settles Question on "Wetness of the Rain" at Townley

(By FRED H. GORMLEY)
HAMILTON, Ala., Feb. 7.—(Special)—Wit and humor have taken away the serious thoughts many times during the trial of Sergeant Robert L. Lancaster on an indictment charging complicity in the lynching of William Baird and one of the wittiest of the witty has been Judge T. L. Sowell, whose remarks have caused much laughter when laughter was permissible.

Judge Horace Wilkinson, special prosecutor for the state, was cross-examining a witness in an effort to show that the "captain's car" which the state insists was used by the lynching party was wet when the witness saw it standing at its proper place at the barracks at Townley a few hours after the lynching.

"Was it raining?" asked Judge Wilkinson.

"Yes," replied the witness.

"Was the car wet?"

The defense objected on the ground that the question had been answered and that another response would be mere repetition.

The defense objected on the ground that question had been answered and that another response would be mere repetition.

The state insisted on a second answer. Judge Sowell was called upon to rule on the defense's objection.

"Objection sustained," said the court. "If it was raining it was wet."

In his effort to get an answer as to whether or not the car was wet Judge Wilkinson cited that much-quoted case where a witness was asked if he waved a lantern as a warning at a crossing. He replied that he did. On a second trial of the case, he was asked the same question and he answered "yes". Then counsel asked: "Was that lantern lighted?" The witness replied: "No". But the citation had no effect on the ruling of the court.

Sergeant Robert J. Lancaster has been known as Robert L. Lancaster in his trial until he took the witness stand Friday. It then developed that his middle initial is "J" but that he was indicted as "L". This was not sufficient to support a plea of misnomer on the part of the defense because the supreme court has held that an error in the middle initial does not invalidate an indictment.

ATLANTA MAN, HELD TO GRAND JURY ON NARCOTIC CHARGE

Charles Green, who gives his home as Atlanta, was held to the Federal grand jury at Huntsville Saturday night on a charge of violating the anti-narcotic act, following his arrest here Saturday afternoon by Decatur police and health authorities. A quantity of opium was said to have been discovered in his quarters at a local hotel.

Green told the officers, it is said, that he was permitted to use a certain amount of drugs under a permit granted by Atlanta officials.

Court Rests After Very Busy Week

(International News Service)
TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 7.—After having tried and convicted four of the major offenders in the alleged "moonshine ring" conspiracy, which resulted in the death of Deputy Don Stevenson and the wounding of Deputies McPeters and Highfield on January 22, Judge Charles P. Almon today announced that court would recess this week and that the remaining thirteen members of the "ring" would face juries beginning with next Monday, February 14.

Venires are being drawn today or the hearings next week. The summoning of juries began this afternoon. The men already convicted are: Hamp Kirby, life imprisonment; Sid Kirby, 20 years; Jake Smith, 30 years and Will Holmes, the "brains" of the conspiracy, life imprisonment.

Tuscaloosa, the home of the accused guardsmen, is also the home of the University of Alabama and the state hospital for the insane. Judge Wilkinson was attempting to gain admission.

C. H. HOUSTON FOR HIGH OFFICE

The possibility of a southern man for President Harding's cabinet centers about two or three active Republicans from such border states, as Kentucky and Tennessee. The Tennessee prominently mentioned for the cabinet is C. H. Houston, of Chattanooga, a successful business man and loyal friend of the South. It is generally conceded that the Volunteer state was placed in the Harding column largely through the efforts and influence of Mr. Houston. He is a life long friend of Harding, and many people of Tennessee, felt that through Mr. Houston and other men high up in the councils of the G. O. P. the South would suffer nothing by the election of the man recommended by Houston. But if Houston is to be of benefit to the South in a large way it will be necessary to place him in a responsible position in the incoming administration. From the active interest he has taken in Muscle Shoals development, and from recommendations given him by many southern men, regardless of party, his appointment to a cabinet position would be pleasing and acceptable to the South. One of his former school mates, Lon Cunningham, who has large financial interests in the Tennessee Valley, and resides in Decatur, states that in the event the Republican majority in the House votes against the Muscle Shoals appropriations, since Mr. Houston has staked every thing in a political way, on the success of that great enterprise, he will meet with strong opposition from many prominent Republicans to appointment in the cabinet, but that an agreement might be reached whereby he would be named to some other high office in the Republican administration. The action of the Albany Chamber of Commerce in endorsing Mr. Houston for a cabinet position, was doubtless, in part based on that body's knowledge of the hard work by Mr. Houston for securing adequate appropriations for Muscle Shoals.

A SIGNAL VICTORY FOR THE SHOALS

A signal victory for Muscle Shoals was won late Saturday afternoon when the Senate adopted the Underwood amendment to the appropriations bill allocating $10,000,000 for continuation of the work at the Wilson Dam. Under the leadership of Senators Underwood and Heflin, the proponents of the Muscle Shoals project routed the opposition under the leadership of Senators Smoot and Lenroot. The amendment was adopted by a fairly conclusive majority, considering the bitterness which has marked the difference of opinion on this great project.

The fate of Muscle Shoals now is transferred to the House, which previously has rejected a similar amendment. The House members are expected to oppose the appropriation and the final fight will be waged on the floor.

While the gloom which hovered over the Tennessee Valley when the House rejected the amendment has given place to a feeling of hope, the fate of Muscle Shoals still is not settled. The opponents of Tennessee River development will not give up the fight before they have exhausted every means to kill the Wilson Dam and nitrate plant plans. On the other hand, the chances of completion by the government of the work on the river have been enhanced greatly by the action of the Senate. The influence of the vote in the upper house is sure to be felt when the representatives ballot.

Today the future of Muscle Shoals is brighter than it has been in many months.

The remarkable leadership of the Alabama delegation in the Senate throughout the long campaign in behalf of the Shoals is receiving the plaudits of the entire South. Aiding and bearing up this generalship day after day there has been the powerful influence of the organized farmers of the Nation, of the Tennessee River Improvement association, of civic, fraternal and commercial organizations throughout the country. Win, lose or draw the Muscle Shoals fight has been one of the most spectacular ever waged in the United States Congress and credit has been reflected on all who participated therein.

ARMENIAN OIL MAGNATE GIVES $120,000 DINNER

A lively tale comes from Paris. The most blasé Parisians, we are told in a cablegram, were shocked by a dinner recently given in his mansion by an Armenian oil magnate. Artists' models depicted as nymphs in a miniature lake of champagne, and rare viands were served in the most luxurious surroundings. The oil magnate is estimated to have spent $120,000 for the evening's entertainment.

The guests were met by turbaned Armenian servants in silk robes and were conducted to apartments where they were clothed in oriental attire, ornamented with golden thread and studded with gems. Jeweled sandals were placed on their feet and purple fezzes on their heads. The women, who were stage beauties, manikins and models from the Latin quarter, were robed in Grecian gowns, classic and scant.

The walls of the dining hall were covered with La France roses, "so that not an inch of the tapestries could be seen." A golden carpet, reputed to be worth $125,000, was on the floor. The table was 100 feet wide and in the center was a lake where two fountains played, and the lake was filled with champagne—6,500 gallons of it. Humming birds stuffed with caviar, filet of black sea whale and ragout of Caucasian ram were some of the dishes served. Spiced wines were drunk from silver goblets, as in the spacious days of the Caesars. The subsequent orgy was of such a nature that it set all Paris to talking.

This Lucullan feast celebrated the sale of vast oil properties in the Caucasian fields to a British subsidiary of the Anglo-Persian Oil company, for which a sum said to exceed 50,000,000 pounds was paid. The host, who gave free reign to his extravagance and vicious propensities, was not a Frenchman, it will be observed. The French people justly resent the imputation that their beloved capital is the wickedest city in the world. They point to the fact that most of the dissipation in Paris, which is attributed to degenerate Frenchmen, is due to outsiders, and that is true. No Frenchman would spend the equivalent of 2,000,000 francs for a single dinner. Wealthy profligates flock to Paris from all parts of the world in quest of pleasure, usually of a dubious kind, and it is largely their escapades which have given the city by the Seine an unsavory reputation.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

SCRAPPING THE TRANSPORTATION ACT

Vice-President Atterbury of the Pennsylvania System apparently speaks for the American Association of Railroad Executives when he asks the Railroad Labor Board to annul the wage agreements made when the roads were taken over from Government operation eleven months ago. It is an extraordinary course of action which is thus urged and the reasons given are no less extraordinary. They amply justify the labor organizations affected in making a protest which might better perhaps be directed to Congress or the Interstate Commerce Commission than to a President about to retire from office.

The roads are operating under the transportation act approved February 23 last year. In the shaping of this act they played a most influential part. Since traffic rates were to be standardized by the act and fixed at figures calculated to yield a net operating income equal to 5 1/2 per cent of the property values involved, wages and labor costs of operation had to be standardized also, and the question of wage rates became tied up with the question of traffic rates and made inseparable. The Interstate Commerce Commission was to deal with traffic rates and the underlying matter of labor costs was to be dealt with by the Railroad Labor Board acting as the final arbitrator in all questions and disputes of wages.

When, therefore, the railroad executives ask that the wage agreements be set aside in favor of the old method of each road for itself so far as wages are concerned, they ask for the nullification of an essential part of the transportation act. They ask for the privilege of breaking their part of the labor agreement made when they took over the properties. They would reject the scheme of arbitration which they had helped create and they would reduce to chaos again the whole subject-matter so recently and painfully recreated and established by the transportation act.

And their reason is that "even a few days of delay" may find the roads generally plunging into bankruptcy. It is an impossible position for them. They more than voluntarily entered into the agreements of the transportation act. They must abide by them and work out their salvation through them. It is nonsense to suppose the roads are all going to smash. The transportation act is not thus to be scrapped before it is a year old.—New York World.

The recent night offensive of the ground hog, needless to say, came to nothing, before the assault of thousands of sunbeams the next morning, as directed by General Spring.

If Alabama leaders in the House prove as strong as were Messrs. Underwood and Heflin in the Senate, the development of Muscle Shoals is as good as completed.

In Vienna, Austria, even the most favored classes have had only two meals a day since 1917, and then they got only soup and black bread. How about the poor children of the Near East and China.

The Germans are reported to be protesting a certain movie picture descriptive of the murder of Nurse Edith Cavell. The time for the Huns to have protested was in Belgium just before the execution.

John Barleycorn is not actually dead; society has only put a price on his head.

It is hard to keep from feeling sheepish, when parading in all wool garment made of cotton.

It might help if Congressman Almon would express a concern for the Chaplain of the House, to pray for the passage of the Muscle Shoals appropriation bill by that body.

If only the undesirable citizens, who leave America, could leave it as they found it.

Pancho Villa, who held the job of perpetual law breaker in Mexico for so long is now appealing to the law for protection against bandits. The old story of "whose ox is gored."

When the fine ladies had trains to their evening dresses nine and ten feet long, there must have been ample room for switching.

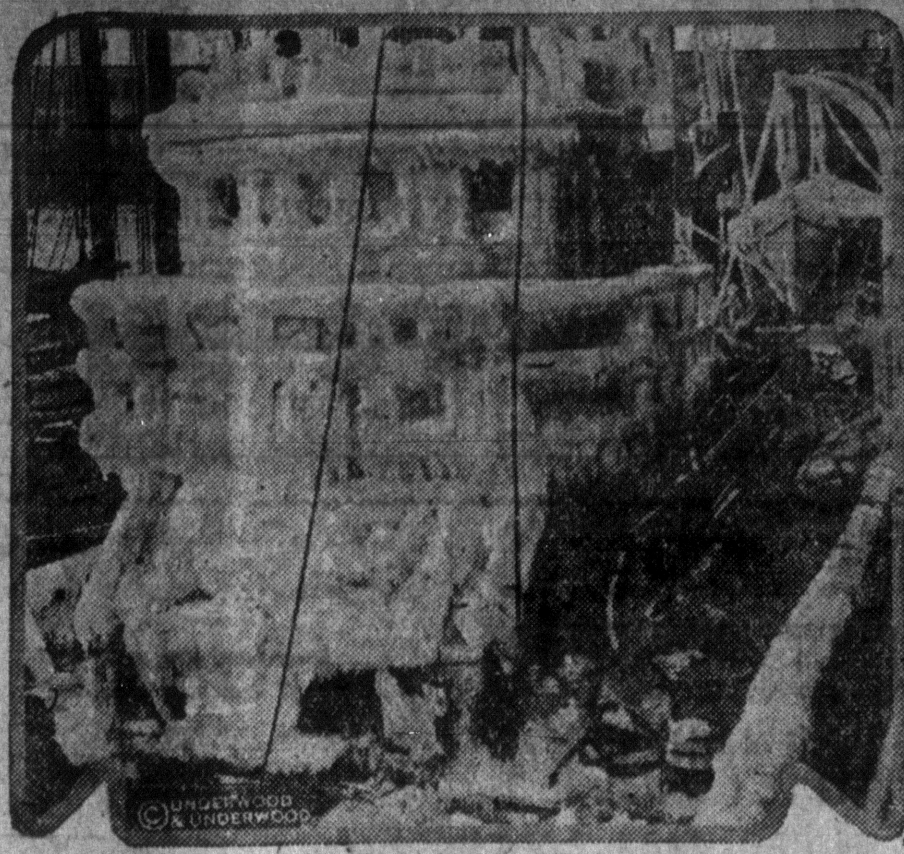

The art of swimming would be looked upon as more of a diversion and would be practiced more, perhaps, if it did not so closely resemble our old steady job of "keeping our heads above water."

If the supreme court does not reverse itself or do something, so as to allow the use of more millions on the public roads, not only the 4rd people and other owners of high power vehicles will suffer, but the entire population of Alabama.

When President Wilson appeared at a Washington theatre the other night, the crowd present arose en-masse to cheer him. But of course theater goers have more appreciation than Republican members of the Senate.

Eugene V. Debs is reported to have said that he was not surprised that the President failed to pardon him. That was one time Eugene was with the majority.

His Last Case.

A lawyer who for many years had shocked a large number of his friends by his rather liberal views on religion recently died.

A friend of the deceased, who cut short a trip to hurry back to town for the purpose of attending the last rites of his colleague, entered the late lawyer's home some minutes after the beginning of the service.

"What part of the service is this?" he inquired in a whisper of another legal friend standing in the crowded hallway.

"I've just come myself," said the other, "but I believe they have opened for the defense."—Everybody's Magazine.

MORE THAN NONSENSE MAKER

Edward Lear, Known to Most as Gentle Humorist, Was Also Famed as a Painter.

Most of us when we think of Edward Lear think vaguely of someone who wrote delectable rhymes of nonsense and fun, a man who made queer pictures of impossible creatures to go with his rhymes, who compiled a weird natural history and botany all his own, and spent his life making odd jokes.

We have sung, or heard, someone else sing, his "Owl and the Pussy Cat"—and—and—well, that's about all.

But Edward Lear's nonsense books were the very smallest part of the work of a long and busy life, and his real labor was that of a painter rather than a writer.

More than what he did, even, was what he was—a lovable and charming man, adored by children, with the gentlest heart in the world, a great lover of beauty and devoted to his friends. Lear's real character and work have been described in St. Nicholas, by Hildgarde Hawthorne. Though Lear's work was in general so serious, to the end of his life in 1888, Miss Hawthorne says, he continued to write his ridiculous verses and make his funny sketches in letters to his friends.

JUNIOR MUSIC STUDY

One of the best meetings of the Junior Music Study club was held Saturday afternoon with Miss Mildred Moebes, and Miss Myrtle Graves, as joint hostesses, at the home of Mrs. E. E. Graves on Jackson street. Promptly at 3:30 o'clock the President, Miss Gladys Bernardi called the meeting to order and Miss Louise Chunn as secretary, called the roll, and read the minutes of the last meeting.

By invitation this club has become a member of the Junior department of Alabama Federation of Music clubs, thereby affiliating themselves with the national music clubs.

Plans were also made for a recital to be given to the ladies of the Music study club in April. A beautiful program was rendered, being prepared especially for this occasion.

The study of French composers—Miss Margaret Broadus.

Piano solo—Miss Alice Williams; violin solo—Miss Bernice McClure; piano solo—Miss Mildred Moebes; violin solo—Miss Erline Johnson; piano solo—Miss Julia Lovin; piano solo—Miss Sue Gran Fite; reading—Miss Gladys Bernardi; piano solo—Miss Marjorie Pointer; preliminary drill—Miss Rasph Dudley.

Mesdames Louis A. Neill, Otto B. Moebes, Dudley and J. W. Higdon were the club guests for the afternoon. Adjournments followed and delicious refreshments were served.

Miss Margaret Broadus and Miss Marjorie Pointer will be joint hostesses to this club Saturday, March 5th, 1921.

Mrs. Early Phinizy will entertain the Tuesday Afternoon Bridge Club at her apartment Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

SHOWER FOR MISS ROBINSON

On Friday afternoon Feb. 4th from 3 to 5 o'clock, the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Callahan was thronged with interested friends of Miss Louise Robinson, who is soon to sail for China. The occasion was a shower, given for Miss Robinson by the ladies of the First M. E. Church Decatur.

Four tables placed in the reception hall presided over by Mesdames F. H. Pointer, W. H. Ritter and Hartwell Davis, were literally loaded with handsome gifts, and each gift came freighted with the love and good wishes of the giver. For but to know this noble consecrated young woman is but to love her.

Mrs. S. D. Johnson met the guests at the door, turned them over to Mesdames McGlawn and Austelle, who conducted them to the living room to meet the honoree. In the line were Mrs. Callahan, Miss Robinson, her mother, Mrs. L. S. Robinson and Mrs. W. A. Brown.

This room had surely been visited by the spring fairies for beautiful daffodils and ferns were everywhere. Mrs. McGlawn and Mrs. Davenport led them to the dining room, which was artistically decorated in silver baskets of crimson sweet peas.

On the handsome lace covered dining table was a cut glass vase of magnificent American Beauty roses and Bon Bons.

Mrs. West and Miss Bethard presided over the Tea Urns, while Mesdames Frank Brown, Philip Humphrey, Minnie Draper, J. R. and R. E. Hewlett, served dainty refreshments.

BENAKER'S ORIGINAL PAINTINGS AT Y. M. C. A.

A collection of thirty-five of Benaker's original oil paintings will be on display at the Y. M. C. A. beginning on Thursday. Members of the Women's Clubs and others interested are invited on that day. School children are invited for Friday and the week following. These paintings are expected to be received tomorrow from Birmingham and will be in charge of Mrs. J. W. Cunningham and Mrs. L. A. Neill.

Adding Color to Street Dress

THE blouse has endeared itself to women for many reasons and has been developed in such great variety that the theme is endless. Starting with the tailored blouse of wash materials—the direct descendant of the shirtwaist—it runs through many dainty developments in lingerie blouses of sheer cottons or linen, hand-made or otherwise, that commend themselves because of their perpetual freshness. It is fashioned in styles that give it the flavor of the sport suit, the tailored suit, the separate skirt—for morning or afternoon—and comes through its frequent tubbing as good as new. Blouses of georgette are even more desired, because of the beauty of this fabric and its additional charm of color. And besides these two great favorites, there are blouses of satin, of net, lace and various silks to be reckoned with. Altogether they are a new story all the time.

Two of the simplest designs among those that make up spring displays, as shown in the picture, will interest the woman who undertakes the making of blouses at home. They are intended for wear with suits or skirts and are both washable, fulfilling the mission of the lingerie blouse and adding ing a color to the sedate street suit or tailored skirt. In each of them a feature of the new designs appears in the obliteration of a girdle or belt. Blouses are extended below the waist, in the front at least, and there is a vague definition of the waist line in them, but they are often shaped to form a short sash at the back. The satin blouse at the left of the picture is a slip-over model with a little braid trimming and that at the right is of georgette, having the new three-quarter length, flaring sleeves. An apron panel at the front, displays a bit of embroidery and hemstitching provides the finished, careful workmanship that is the chief asset of blouses for wear with suits.

Condor's Fighting Qualities.

Like many other greedy creatures, the condor after his dinner becomes incapable of flight, and it is only then that he can be approached with safety; but even now the hunter must be cautious and strong. A Chilean miner, who was celebrated for his great physical strength, once thought that without weapons he could capture a condor which seemed unusually stupid after its heavy meal.

The man put forth all his powers, and the engagement was long and desperate, till at last the poor miner was glad to escape with his life. Exhausted, torn and bleeding, he managed to carry off a few feathers as trophies of the hardest battle he had ever fought. He thought that he had left the bird mortally hurt. The other miners went in search of the body, but instead found the bird alive and erect, flapping its wings for flight.

Fish That Climbs.

Colombia has a species of catfish which has achieved a reputation for its climbing proclivities. One of these was watched by a naturalist and it progressed a distance of 18 feet in half an hour, making its way over a steep rock over which a stream of water was passing in the opposite direction. This is accomplished by means of a suction apparatus. There are other fish with this accomplishment in the Himalayas which have no such apparatus, but which make their way against the current and up steep waterways, adhering to the rocks by their smooth ventral skin and enlarged lips.

Sweet potatoes are grown in every part of China and form a staple part of the diet of the people.

The cochineal insect lays her eggs, then dies with her body protecting the eggs from the sun's rays.

PROMINENT CONDUCTOR ON THE L. AND N. RAILROAD IS RETIRED

L. S. Robinson Quits Active Duty After Long Period of Service

Announcement is made of the retirement with pension of L. S. Robinson, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of Albany and Decatur as a conductor on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, effective at once.

Mr. Robinson has lived most of his life in Decatur, but a number of years ago removed with his family to West Albany. "When I began railroading in Decatur almost a life time ago," said Mr. Robinson, "the boss was the depot agent, and I was one of two yard masters."

"The engineers on the switch engines did their own firing, and there was one switchman, to each of the two engines, so six of us did all the switching. Now, the work has so grown that there are five persons to one engine, alone. I was mighty busy as yard master when the Louisville & Nashville shops were built and handled all the hick that went into them."

"Then, and during the boom in 1887, were hustling times. Hours and even days were not considered. The whole idea was to get the trains by. During the boom, I have known passenger trains to have to wait for hours before they could be switched. It was about this time, that I formed the acquaintance of J. T. Harriham, road supervisor, then, who had worked up from section man, and who later became President of the Illinois Central Central. Years later as I walked out from my home, then in Decatur, I recognized Mr. Harriham at the depot. He knew me at once, and among other things told me, I recall, that his motto had always been not to allow any of his men imposed upon, and to always hear any grievance that properly came before him. He must have gotten his ideas from the way the Louisville and Nashville did things. I know, that we always had free access to our superiors. In the old days, when ever new officials would be placed over us, the 'boys' always discussed the possibility of being 'fired'. I would say at such times that my motto was: 'Do right and fear nothing' and it always worked with me, I never was fired or reprimanded. I never saw any occasion, for disloyalty at any time or in any business. When as, conductor on a through freight, I got into the biggest wreck of my life last fall, when 28 cars left the track, and the Louisville and Nashville was blocked for 24 hours near Martin city, I am told that my disposition to preach loyalty to the interests involved at that time got me some pleasant publicity, though I had nothing to do with it.

"One thing about the old times. We had to switch cars whose draw heads were of different heights, and we had to switch without modern safety appliances. I recall seeing two switchmen killed out right. And the large engines then, were not as big as the switch engines now are but we called them 'Moguls'. The cars were 16,000 capacity and a 24,000 car was a big one, now 85,000 to 90,000 is the rule. "We, road men, came in for hard work as the trains became longer and longer, now as conductors have to check well over a hundred cars, it is no easy job.

"I did not become broken in health, and expect be as useful as possible," said Mr. Robinson, "but I found I tired out very easily for the last few months. I certainly appreciate the consideration of the company's retiring me."

Mr. Robinson's living children are Leon S. Robinson, who lives with Mr. and Mrs. Robinson; Mrs. Rufus Moore of Birmingham, Miss Louise Robinson, who is at present with her parents, but who leaves soon for her work as

DR. ABERCROMBIE WILL BE WITNESS

ALABAMIAN WILL GIVE TESTIMONY BEFORE CONGRESSIONAL PROBERS

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Feb. 7.—Upon the request of Senator Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Dr. John W. Abercrombie, state superintendent of education, left Saturday morning for Washington, D. C. Dr. Abercrombie has been asked by Senator Nelson to appear in the capacity of a witness in connection with investigation by the Senate Judiciary Committee of charges alleging illegal practices on the part of the Federal Department of Justice in relation to the arrest and deportation of aliens.

Dr. Abercrombie was requested to appear before the committee as a witness at a meeting of that body to be held in Washington, Tuesday morning, February 8, at 10:30 o'clock.

Dr. Abercrombie was formerly a member of President Wilson's official family in Washington, having been appointed by the President, on February 1, 1918, solicitor of the Department of Labor. In making this appointment, President Wilson also issued an order designating Dr. Abercrombie as acting secretary for the federal department of labor. The appointment was made immediately after expiration of Dr. Abercrombie's term of office as congressman at large from the state of Alabama.

Just how soon the Alabama state highway commission, will file application for rehearing of the appealed case, decision of which on Thursday last declared invalid the $25,000,000 bond issue amendment, depends altogether upon the celerity with which the Montgomery county circuit court in equity disposes of the remanded bill.

In announcing its decision, the supreme court reversed the judgment of the lower court which upheld the constitutionality of the bond issue amendment, and remanded the cause for a new hearing. It is presumed that in the light of the supreme court's decision, the original bill will now be dismissed by the lower court, so that application for rehearing may be filed in Alabama's highest court by the state highway commission.

BELOVED WOMAN DIES AT DAUGHTER'S HOME

Mrs. Mollie Spight Alexander died last night at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Nash, Jr., 1981 Court ave. Infirmities of old age were the cause of death. Mrs. Alexander was 67 years old.

Mrs. Alexander was well known and highly respected throughout this territory. As Miss Mollie Spight and then as Mrs. Alexander she was connected with two of the best known families in Tennessee and Northern Mississippi. Her home was at Middletown, Tenn. She was a prominent member of the Baptist church.

Mrs. Alexander's body will be taken to Ripley, Miss., on the 5:30 p. m. train today. Funeral services will be held at Ripley tomorrow.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Nash, Mrs. Alexander is survived by a son, J. S. Alexander, of Middletown, Tenn. —Memphis Press.

GLORY BELONGS TO PIONEER

Man Recognized as the First to Do Things Is Sure of Recognition of Posterity.

Adam's glory was in being the first man, and Eve's in being the first woman. They have been talked of through all the centuries for nothing except that they were the first to live, the first to be tempted and the first to fall.

And so it is with many other persons and events that find their places in history. Always it is the beginnings of things that shed glory on the participants. Christopher Columbus has just been honored again because he was the first to discover America, and the landing of the Pilgrims is celebrated because they were the first to colonize Massachusetts. Harvard rejoices in being the first institution of learning in what is now the United States and having set up the first printing press. The first settlers of any community are always persons of prime interest, and the first man to wear pantaloons or carry an umbrella, if he were living today, could coin money by putting himself on exhibition.

If one wants to be remembered one has only to pick out the spot where a great city is to be built, or connect himself with an industry that is bound to grow, or do something that is at once immortalized. Generation after generation will speak his name and on anniversary occasions orators will sound his praise. He may be individually no greater than thousands who have come after, but the glory of having been the first will be upon him forever and a day.—Columbus Dispatch.

Church Bells.

The Angelus bell, always rung thrice a day, takes its name from the first words of the prayer. In Tuscany a bell is rung an hour before the evening Angelus, or Ave bell, and is intended to remind its hearers to say the creed. The De Profundis bell sounds one hour after the Ave. In Italy on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock thirty-three strokes are sounded in many churches and convents in memory of Christ's death at the age of 33. The custom probably is followed elsewhere.

COTTON MARKET OPENING STEADY

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The cotton market was quiet at the opening today, but had a steadier tone. First prices were 7 to 18 points higher, due to firmness of Liverpool interests.

At the advance the market seem to meet offerings, especially from spot houses and the trend was slightly easier after the opening, prices ruling about 5 points under the call levels. Trade was light and mostly local.

Incentives.

Up to the present time politicians and philosophers have not dreamed of rendering industry attractive; to enchain the mass to labor, they have discovered no other means, after slavery, than the fear of want and starvation; if, however, industry is the destiny which is assigned to us by the creator, how can we think that he would wish to force us to it by violence, and that he has no notion how to put in play some more noble lever, some incentive capable of transforming its occupation into pleasures?—Charles Fourier.

The Better Plan.

Railway Foreman—Sambo, if we had war wouldn't you like to be a captain and get in front and holler: "Come on, boys?"

Sambo—No, suh, boss. I'd rather git behind and holler: "Go on, boys!" —Christian Herald.

Most of Nation's Funds in Hiding

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Most of the nation's money is hidden away in stockings, safety deposit boxes and other hiding places. Congress was so informed today by Comptroller Williams. He said of the total of $5,380,000,000 in circulation in the United States currency amounting to $3,433, 000,000 is stuck away in the hiding places of the owners. The proportion held in the vaults of national banks is $350,000,000 and banks under state supervision have $626,000,000. Federal Reserve banks have $860,000,000.

"DIVINE GUIDANCE" IS SUBJECT SUNDAY OF REV. DAVENPORT

Rev. George B. Davenport, pastor of the First Methodist church, preached from his pulpit yesterday morning, on the importance of divine guidance in choosing a business or profession. The day was one of ideal weather, and a large congregation was in attendance. A beautiful solo was sung by Miss Ruth Banks, the words of which were one of the Psalms.

Prior to his sermon Rev. Davenport, asked that Miss Louise Robinson, who has just returned from mission school study in New York city, and who will leave for her mission work in China Saturday of this week, to tell the congregation about the effect the news of the Centenary movement, among Chinese Christians. Miss Robinson said that deaths and lack of money, had made it necessary to abandon much of the new church work in China, at the time the big drive for millions was put on in this country; but that when she and others were told that they could go ahead with plans for larger efforts, that the effect was electrical. She said that hitherto, Chinese, had felt that a few rich people were sending the mission money to China, and that the news, that all classes were making real sacrifices to send the Gospel to them, caused the Chinese to take new heart, and many churches determined to become self supporting in five years time.

"Idle hands come of selfish hearts," declared Rev. Davenport. "Those who will not use the hands and bend the back in order to help lift the burden of the world are defeating God's purposes."

"The Riveter in the mechanics shop; the merchant in his business and the farmer in his work, should be as much called of God, as those who preach the gospel or follow the profession."

"Work you do for God does not hinder you in your avocations in life. I know an engineer, on the Southern Railway, who in addition to making his regular runs, preaches the Gospel in private conversation, and from the running board of his engine. One high official of the Southern is known to have been converted under this man's preaching. The idea has gone forth, that religious workers must be deficient in the tasks of worldly employment. But this is a gross error and not true to the facts."

The preacher cited many instances of men who were doing big things in a secular way, who were also answering God's call in religious matters. It was declared that Daniel Webster confessed late in life that he had felt the call to preach as a young man. Rev. Davenport said that he did not wish to detract from Webster as a lawyer and statesman, but that he was sure the great orator should have much greater influence if he had followed the promptings of the Spirit. He said that Webster died a near drunkard, according to history, but that he might have died such a glorious death as did Bishop Brooks, and have done as much or more good than Phillips Brooks had, he heard the call of God in due time. The regular communion service of this church was had yesterday, and a special collection was taken for the poor.

A regular meeting was announced of the men of the church for tonight. Copper sheathing on ships often carries a film of silver picked up from the water of the sea.

Since 1914 our people have given with unparalleled generosity, and they should not be lightly called upon for additional charities. But there is a life-and-death situation in Central Europe, where orphaned, destitute, famished children, pitiful consequences of the World War, must die unless aid is sent.

WOODROW WILSON.

Little Graves By the Hundred Thousands--Unless Help Comes Quickly

Over 3,500,000 children in eastern and central Europe face starvation. Little tots—three and a half million of them!

The mind cannot grasp such figures. If this number of children were to march four abreast in close marching order in army stride, the formation would reach from Detroit to New York, and would take 40 days and 40 nights to pass a given point. Or, visualize these figures in another way; if this number of children were to die and be buried in one trench, it would make one continuous grave 2,800 miles long—the distance from San Francisco to New York.

It Is a Child's Right to Live

It has been said, "Old men make wars, young men fight them, but always the children suffer most." These children are the helpless victims of the late war and they are neither responsible for the war nor for their coming into the world. Many of these children are without either fathers or mothers; they live where local aid and assistance are absolutely impossible. Help must come from outside if they are to continue to live.

Will You Give $10 to Save a Child's Life?

Ten Dollars—will assure life for one of these children. It will provide sufficient food and medical care—enough to stand squarely between life and death.

The life of a child—in all God's earth there is no more precious and priceless a thing.

And at least one little life should be yours to save. You who love children surely will take to your hearts one of these innocent little lives. You will need no further urging. Your hearts will respond eagerly and generously.

Rheumatism Comes From Tiny Pain Germs

First of all, get it firmly fixed in your mind that all the liniments in the world have no effect whatever on Rheumatism.

A very common form of Rheumatism is caused by millions of tiny disease germs which infect the blood. The one and only sensible treatment, therefore, is one which cleanses the blood of these germs, and routs them entirely out of the circulation.

This is why S.S.S., the greatest known blood purifier is so successful in the treatment of Rheumatism. It is a powerful cleanser of the blood, and will remove the disease germs that cause your Rheumatism, affording relief that is genuine. S.S.S. is sold by all druggists. PRESIDENT WILSON'S HEALTH STEADILY IMPROVING UNDER PRESCRIBED DAILY ROUTINE

Rigid Adherence to Programme Laid Down by Rear-Admiral Cary T. Grayson Is Slowly but Surely Bringing About His Recovery from the Complete Breakdown Suffered Many Months Ago.

By FRANK A. STUBBS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—President Wilson's continued daily improvement in health, slow and to the untrained eye of the layman, imperceptible as it really is, is due in no small measure to his faithful and rigid adherence to a prescribed daily routine, according to his physician and friend, Rear-Admiral Cary T. Grayson.

Admiral Grayson has had complete charge of the President's health from the time he entered the White House eight years ago and has treated him until his last serious illness on the Chinese theory that the duty of a doctor is to keep his patient from becoming sick. He succeeded with this theory through all the strenuous years of the Wilson administration until the ill-fated Western tour which culminated in the entire physical breakdown of the Chief Executive on September 28, 1918. Dr. Grayson has always felt that this breakdown was caused in a large measure by the inability of Mr. Wilson to observe his carefully prepared routine, diet, and exercise on account of living aboard a railroad train.

With the convalescence of the President, Dr. Grayson resumed his rou-

...is slowly building the President up to at least a semblance of his old time health. The daily routine of the President under Dr. Grayson's guidance varies but little. The President rises at 7 o'clock and shaves himself with a safety razor. After a bath, he goes through a series of physical exercises patterned after the army calisthenics or setting up exercises. Breakfast is served at 8 o'clock in a small dining room leading off from his bed-chamber. Mrs. Wilson always joins the President at breakfast. Mr. Wilson eats a rather hearty breakfast consisting generally of a glass of orange juice, fruit, cereal, eggs, toast and coffee.

From breakfast the President goes directly to his study, where he labors undisturbed until 11 o'clock. It is the President's rigid rule to stay at his desk until it is cleared of all matters requiring his attention. No one is allowed to disturb him and only his personal stenographer, Charles L. Swen, is admitted to the study while the President is disposing of his morning routine. In the manner he is enabled to do an immense amount of work promptly.

From 11 to 12 noon, if it not raining, the President takes an open air sun-bath on the south portico of the White House, warmly wrapped to guard against catching a cold. Mr. Wilson sits in his wheel chair, while Mrs. Wilson reads aloud to him. From time to time Mrs. Wilson is relieved of this duty by Dr. Stockton Axson, brother of the first Mrs. Wilson, who has been living at the White House for several months.

Promptly at 12 o'clock, noon, the President and Mrs. Wilson, members of the White House staff, are not on duty and any friends of Mrs. Wilson's that may be at the house, go to the East Room of the White House, where they constitute the audience for a motion picture show. The programme of this show is changed daily and producers fight for the opportunity of making premiers of their pictures at the White House.

At 1 o'clock President Wilson has his luncheon, which may be called the heaviest meal of the day. The luncheon might be more properly called a mid-day dinner, as it is served in courses and is attended by more formality than any other meal. Dr. Grayson allows the President a wide latitude in this meal, his only restrictions being against too rich food, fat meats, gravies and rich desserts or sweets. Coffee is also forbidden at this meal.

After luncheon Mr. Wilson takes a nap until 3 o'clock, when he and Mrs. Wilson go on a daily motor ride about the city, through the parks and into the surrounding country. Regardless of the weather, unless it is raining, the motor trip is made in a big open car with the top down. The President dresses warmly and wears a golf cap. In rainy weather a limousine is used if the President wishes to go out, but he does not care to make long trips in a closed car. The return to the White House is made at 4:30 and Mr. Wilson goes immediately to his study to see if any papers needing his immediate attention have been sent over from the executive offices. If so, he immediately disposes of them and then turns his attention to the daily newspapers. President Wilson reads the daily papers very quickly. If he is attracted by the headlines he reads the article, if not glances through the sheet and turns his attention to the next one. In the hour that he gives himself for this purpose the President reads the leading papers from all sections of the country.

At 7 o'clock he has dinner with Mrs. Wilson. Sometimes this meal is served in the little breakfast room, but ordinarily it is eaten in the family dining room near the state dining room. This meal is a light and simple one without meat of any kind. After dinner the President watches a game of pocket billiards between Mrs. Wilson and Dr. Axson in the billiard room or goes to his own chamber where, if the weather is cool, he will sit for half an hour or so before the open fireplace before retiring for the night.

Bedtime for President Wilson comes at 9 o'clock unless there should be a family gathering necessitating his sitting up longer.

This is the general daily life of the President of the United States, and its success is witnessed by his steady improvement. The President recently stepped on the scales for Dr. Grayson and tipped the beam at 181 pounds, the heaviest that he has weighed in his life.

The new residence recently acquired by the President and Mrs. Wilson was selected from the scores that were offered, largely because of its adaptability to the President's prescribed routine. The new house has a large enclosed glass porch leading into a beautiful formal garden which is terraced nearly twenty feet above the street. One enters the porch from a handsome library which is on the third floor on the residence. Although the house is located in a fashionable quarter of the city of Washington, the arrangement of its porch and garden makes for that quiet and seclusion that Dr. Grayson believes is absolutely necessary to the President's ultimate recovery.

Poppy a Memorial Flower.

The poppy seems fated to go down into history as the "memorial flower of the American Legion." It is the common scarlet variety of that flower growing so freely in waste places that won the regard of the men overseas for it bloomed on about them, and often the flower was the only beautiful thing the soldiers saw for days upon days.

The poppy is one of the oldest flowers in the world's literature, and has been sung in verse and mentioned in holy books by all races. The oriental poppies are of orange-cream with black centers and large seed bags, which burst and scatter the seeds in all directions. Other varieties include the slender Iceland poppy, the yellow California variety and the big double flowers. None of them has any perfume, but they depend upon beauty of form and color to attract and hold the senses.

Blood—Take Pepto-Mangan

So many people spend week after week feeling down and out. They never stop to think that something really the matter. They satisfy themselves by saying, "Oh, I'm not sick. I'll all right tomorrow."

And tomorrow comes again and again. Still they feel depressed and languid, scarcely able to get around.

If you don't feel like yourself, you are not yourself. If you are weak and pale, your blood needs strengthening. You should know about Pepto-Mangan, that famous blood tonic. Physicians recommend it and prescribe because it contains just the ingredients needed to make red blood. It renews your energy, puts you where you ought to be. Begin with it today. The tablets if they will be more convenient to take than the liquid. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Ask for "Gude's" and be sure that the full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on the package.—A

Vote FOR Good Roads TOMORROW

VOTE FOR THE 6 PER CENT AMENDMENT

So the Bonds may be sold and work started. These Bonds must be sold at once, so that the U. S. Appropriation may be equaled by a like amount from the state.

THESE BONDS ARE PAID OFF BY AUTO OWNERS
HENCE TAXES ARE NOT RAISED TO MEET THEM

This is a Golden opportunity to secure a chain of Pike roads throughout Morgan county for nothing. The Auto Owners pay half and U. S. pays the other. What are you going to do about it? VOTE FOR IT OF COURSE.

What Is the 6 Per Cent Amendment?

The first Amendment provided for 5% Bonds. Owing to high rates of interest, Bonds could not be sold at that low rate of interest, so to comply with the Federal regulations these bonds must be sold at once, in order to get Federal support. Hence the State is only asking for permission to sell them to bear 6%. VOTE FOR THE 6% AMENDMENT.

IF THIS BOND ISSUE FAILS TO CARRY, ALABAMA LOSES 3 MILLION DOLLARS AND MORGAN COUNTY LOSES ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS.
